"BRITAIN'S WESTERN GATEWAYS"

The South Wales Docks of the Great Western Railway Company at CARDIFF, SWANSEA, NEWPORT, BARRY, PORT TALBOT and PENARTH are world-renowned as avenues of a great ocean trade. They are natural portals for exports from and imports to the densely-populated districts of South Wales and the Midlands of England. PLYMOUTH is well known as our westernmost Ocean Liner Port—the Gateway into England from the Atlantic. Excellent G.W.R. tenders meet all Liners, and travellers have an extra day in England by landing or embarking at Plymouth. Many other ports on the South and West coasts from London round to Birkenhead are directly served by the Great Western Railway.

SAND BLAST APPARATUS.

"Tilghman's" and "Sand Blast" are synonymous. As the original patentees of the Sand Blast Process, Tilghman's claim to have an unrivalled experience in the production of all classes of Sand Blasting equipment for every trade. For the cleaning of all metal castings, forgings, etc., and the preparation of various surfaces prior to enamelling, galvanizing and the like, the Sand Blast process has long since demonstrated its all round efficiency and low cost. It is also used extensively in the glass trade for obscuring and decorative purposes.

AIR COMPRESSORS—STATIONARY and PORTABLE.

The TILGHMAN Compressor is not a cheap job, but once installed will prove to be economical. High class workmanship, sound design and first class material all combine to produce a machine whose performance will be remembered long after the price is forgotten. Our list of users contains the names of the world's most discriminating buyers.

THE MERCANTILE NAVY LIST

THE List is divided into three divisions: (1) Steam, (2) Motor, and (3) Sailing. Vessels which are fitted with auxiliary motors are included in both the Motor and Sailing divisions, their names being printed in italics.

Wireless Call Signs are now inserted, being printed in italics beneath the International Code Signal.

The name and address of the Owner, or Part Owner, are printed in ordinary type.

A cross prefixed to the name of any person signifies that he is registered as "Managing Owner" under section 59 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.

The printing of the name and address of any person in italics signifies that such person, though not the owner of shares, has, under section 59 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, been registered in the United Kingdom as the person ("Manager" or "Ship's Husband") to whom the management of the ship has been entrusted.

Great care has been taken in the compilation of this book, but should any typographical or other errors be detected it is requested that they may be pointed out to the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen, at the address given below, in order that the necessary corrections may be made in the next Edition.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

In accordance with the decision of the International Code of Signals Committee of the Washington Radiotelegraph Conference, 1927, endorsed by the International Radiotelegraph Conference of Madrid, 1932, ships' radio call signs will, on and after the 1st January, 1934, be used both for wireless and visual signalling purposes and the existing Visual Signal Letters as shown in this edition will be cancelled in the case of all ships.

Ships not fitted with wireless which at present have Visual Signal Letters only will be allotted new Signal Letters taken from the International Radio Call Sign Series for use on and after 1st January, 1934.

INTRODUCTION OF NEW INTERNATIONAL CODE OF SIGNALS

Attention is drawn to the fact that the International Code of Signals, 1901, will shortly be superseded by the new Code known as the International Code of Signals, 1931. This Code has been prepared by an International Committee, and is being adopted by all the principal maritime countries. It has been decided that the new Code should be brought into international use from the 1st January, 1934, but it is hoped that during the year 1933 Masters and Officers of British ships will take all possible opportunities of familiarising themselves with the new Code and its procedure, and in particular of exercising the Code with other British ships. A suitable procedure, when it is desired to exchange communications by the new Code, would be to hoist the code pendant with the fly tied to the halyards, to which signal the answering ship, if able to communicate in the 1931 Code, would reply by a similar hoist. Should, however, the answering ship only be able to communicate in the old Code she would hoist the code pendant as at present.

The British edition of the new Code consists of two volumes, one dealing with Visual Signalling, and the other with Wireless Signalling, the latter being the first International Wireless Telegraphy Code issued specially for the use of the merchant and air services.

NOTICE

The International Code of Signals.

THIS CODE is the universal means of communication between the Ships and Signal Stations of all nations. It is used on board His Majesty's ships, and has been adopted by all the principal maritime Powers for their Imperial as well as for their Mercantile Navies, viz.:—

England.
*France.
America.
*Denmark.
*Holland.
*Sweden.

Russia.
Greece.
*Italy.
*Austria.
*Germany.

*Spain.
*Portugal.
Brazil.
Belgium.
*Norway.

As the Code has been universally adopted, the necessity is apparent that the officers and men of the British Mercantile Marine should be familiar with it; the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty have accordingly ordered that all officers belonging to the Royal Naval Reserve, who act as Masters and Mates of ships, are to be instructed in its use; and the Board of Trade, on the recommendation of the Committee of Lloyd's, have directed that all Candidates for Masters' or Mates' Certificates of Competency must pass a satisfactory examination in the "International Code of Signals."

The International Code is the only Code now used at the Signal Stations on our Coasts, and at the Signal and Semaphore Stations of other countries, and the officers at these Stations have no means of understanding or signalling by any other Code.

It is therefore important that ships should be provided with the means of signalling by this Code, as cases have been reported in which officers at the Signal Stations have hoisted the International Code Signals warning ships of danger and the ships have been afterwards lost from the inability of the Masters to read the signals.

Ships should be provided with the latest edition of the International Code of Signals, which came into force in January 1901 and has been amended from time to time, together with the Supplement showing all the corrections made since the first edition. The Code and Supplement can be obtained directly from H.M. Stationery Office at the addresses given on the title page, or through any Bookseller.

Commercial Maritime Signalling.

The Society of Lloyd's, incorporated by Act of the British Parliament and the Royal Assent of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, has,

* Translations of the Code have been made by these Governments.

with the sanction of Parliament, the control and working of Signal Stations in Great Britain, and in many places abroad. Various foreign Governments have also recognised the advantage of reports from Signal Stations and Semaphores being universally collected and forwarded on identical conditions. These have arranged that reports from or to their Semaphores can be obtained or forwarded through Lloyd's.

Thus one universal system of receiving and transmitting maritime reports extends over a wide area. The organisation of Signal Stations is made very favourable for shipowners and merchants, and the commerce of the world in general. If, for instance, a shipowner, charterer, or consignee, wishes to transmit an order to any vessel at any point where she may appear, one communication to Lloyd's is sufficient to ensure the message being given at any or all of these Stations, as may be desired.

The charges for forwarding information from, or transmitting advices by means of, Signal Stations are moderate. Shipowners, charterers, merchants, or consignees, can obtain telegraphic intelligence at small cost with regard to any vessel in which they may be interested, or postal advices if so preferred, or can transmit orders to such vessels by merely communicating with Lloyd's.

Harbour and Dock Authorities, Chambers of Commerce, Exchanges and such Institutions that may require a large number of reports can arrange with Lloyd's for receiving full and regular advices from Lloyd's Signal Stations on reduced terms, for when a number of reports are taken a substantial reduction is made in the signalling fees.

Shipowners or others who wish to be supplied with reports of vessels from any Signal Station are requested to communicate with the Principal Clerk, Lloyd's, London, E.C.3.

The following is a list of Signal Stations at which signals are received from and made to merchant vessels of all nations :—

WIRELESS STATIONS.

All Wireless Shore Stations which have been established in Great Britain and Ireland for ship to shore communication have been taken over by the General Post Office, but Lloyd's receives information from these Post Office Stations in regard to the positions and movements of Ships and other maritime intelligence.

GALES.

The Meteorological Office, Air Ministry, sends to certain Signal Stations a warning telegram on any occasion when a gale is expected to occur in the vicinity of the Station. The fact that one of these notices has been received at any Station is made known by hoisting a black canvas Cone, three feet high and three feet wide at the base, which appears as a triangle when hoisted.

The "South" Cone (point downwards) is hoisted for Gales—

Commencing from a Southerly point: such gales often veer, sometimes as far as North-west.

For gales commencing from east or west the "S" cone will be hoisted if the gale is expected to change to a southerly direction.

The "North" Cone (point upwards) is hoisted for Gales—

Commencing from a Northerly point: For gales commencing from east or west the "N" cone will be hoisted if the gale is expected to change to a northerly direction.

A list of the Stations is published in Notices to Mariners (Board of Trade) 1st December, 1932.

Signal Letters of British Ships.

This list is prepared for the purpose of enabling officers at Signal Stations on shore and Masters of Ships at sea, to signal and report passing ships. It is published annually, and contains to the date of its publication the name and distinguishing signal of every British registered Ship to which a Code Signal has been allotted. The particulars of each Ship are given, both in the order of the signal letters and in the alphabetical order of their names. In the Appendix the names of certain Foreign Ships having International Code Signals are inserted. The price of the List (including the Appendix) is 2s. net.

Monthly Supplements are also issued.

Appendix to Signal Letters of British Ships.

Masters or Agents of Foreign Vessels may have the names of their Ships and their Ships' International Code Signals inserted in the Appendix to the List on application to the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen, Tower Hill, London, E.C.3, and on payment of a fee of 5s.

Signals for Ships' Names.

Application for the allotment of a Code Signal for the purpose of making a Ship's name known at sea should be made, if the Ship belongs to Great Britain or Northern Ireland, to the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen, Tower Hill, London, E.C.3; and if she belongs to a British Oversea Dominion or Protectorate, to the Registrar of Shipping at the port to which the Ship belongs. Forms for this purpose can be obtained at any Custom House in Great Britain or Northern Ireland.

As it is important that the Signal Letters, when appropriated to any vessel, should in all cases be marked upon the Ship's Certificate of Registry, the Certificate should be forwarded with the application if possible.

Reports of Speakings.

Forms for reporting Ships spoken at sea, disasters, &c., will be supplied on application being made to the Principal Clerk, Lloyd's, London, E.C. 8.
